OKLAHOMA SOLON FORGIBLY OUSTED BY LEGISLATORS

WALTON SUPPORTER IS THROWN FROM ROOM DURING MELEE.

BITTER CHARGES

Declared Klan Bossed State Legislation; Another Charge Voted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Oklahoma City.—A dozen or more house members forcibly attacked Representative Callahan, smashed a chair and threw Callahan out of the room when he declared, in a bitter arraignment of the Ku Klux Klan, that N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan, was dictating the kind of legislation to be enacted in Oklahoma.

Callahan's words hardly fell in the house chamber before one member shouted, "That's a black lie!" One member sprang at Callahan's throat and both fell in a scuffle. Twelve or fifteen other members rushed toward Callahan, most of them endeavoring to place their hands on him. Sergeants-at-arms and virtually all other members of the house rushed to the corner where the scuffle was taking place. Clenching fists were waving in the air as Callahan was forcibly ejected into a cloak room. Callahan stood guard.

DRY ENFORCEMENT DRIVE IN STATE

Federal Prohibition Head in Wisconsin Planning Determined Sweep.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Milwaukee.—A concerted effort to clamp the dry lid down tightly on Wisconsin in the hope of making this state the latest plan of Clark M. Perry, federal prohibition director here. Conferences between state, county, municipal and federal officials will be called soon at several offices for co-ordinating the work until every part of the state is covered with an army of enforcement officials out to make Wisconsin "bone dry."

"Enforcement does not mean half way measures," Mr. Perry declared. "We will wire officials of all parts of the state to realize that it is as much their duty to enforce the law to the limit as it is for federal forces to continue their efforts."

Will Be Called Soon

"The conference will be called at the earliest possible moment, in accordance with the president's suggestion at the meeting of governors recently."

will give Governor Blaine the opportunity to call the first meeting in case he so desires, but if he does not call such a meeting, then will then call meetings about the state myself."

The first of these will be held at Kenosha, and will be attended by officials of Racine and Kenosha counties and the Milwaukee, Superior, LaCrosse and Green Bay.

"I have no complaint to make of the cooperation of the Milwaukee from the local and state units," Mr. Perry said. "It is very much better than a year ago, but we feel that much can be said at these conferences to clear up situations of uncertainty which have arisen in the minds of some of the local officials."

Much Much Passing

"In some places now being recovered, the tendency to pass the buck to the federal enforcement officials. Our force is small and we have only two courts, throughout the state there are 3,700 officials who are sworn to uphold the law, and if they do not do their duty the task of enforcement will be simple."

Local enforcement officials and local courts should be used in the case, instead of the distant federal courts. This is in accordance with the long standing rule that a person is entitled to be tried in his own vicinity by his own people, with all expedition."

MAY GIVE FORBES CHANCE TO REPLY TO GRAVE CHARGE

BULLETIN

St. Louis.—J. W. Thompson, railroad and general contractor, today stated here that he knew nothing of the charges made by Elias H. Mortimer, before a senate investigating committee, regarding alleged advances of money to Charles H. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' bureau. Mr. Thompson asserted his firm never bid for or received a contract for construction of a veterans' hospital.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington.—Having heard a rather startling story from Elias H. Mortimer of Philadelphia, as to his relations with Charles A. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' bureau, while he was seeking a contract from the bureau last year for the construction of a hospital, the senate committee decided to give opportunity next Tuesday, or Wednesday to Mr. Forbes to reply to Mortimer's story.

The testimony contained charges of intrigue, debauchery and corruption in connection with the awarding of a contract for the building of a veterans' hospital at Northampton, Mass., to the Pontiac Construction company of Detroit, one of the companies represented by Mortimer.

Find Bones of Indians Centuries Older than Any Before Uncovered

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Santa Barbara, Cal.—Indians resembling the Cro-Magnon man inhabited the shores of the Pacific coast at an age earlier by many centuries than ever yet established by archeologists, according to claims made here yesterday after the discovery of important specimens in excavating Burton Mound, early home of the Santa Barbara Indians. The explorations are being made by J. P. Harrington of the Smithsonian Institution.

Two skeletons unearthed by Mr. Harrington yesterday are asserted to be remains of an age that dates beyond that of any other specimens uncovered during the excavations, which have covered a period of six months.

Lying on the surface of the hard pan beneath 44 inches of an aeolian deposit of loam, which shows no signs of having been dug into by the Indians during the period of the century-old graves hitherto excavated, was found a skull, with brow abnormally protruding and very thick. The brow ridges are prominent, the face is very long and the jaw massive. The profile is almost gaul-like.

The skeleton accompanying the skull was fragile, the bones almost dropping to pieces.

Beside this skeleton was found another of the same type, also resting on the hard pan at the same level. The skull of this second skeleton had crumbled, but was very thick.

Both skeletons were prone with heads to the east. They are of a distinct type of Indians, antedating those of the later times.

OLD BOOZE CASES STILL PENDING, 2 ARE TAKEN AGAIN

ROSSEBO AND NICKEL FACE NEW CHARGES AFTER RAIDS.

HELD FOR TRIAL

Rossebo Is Charged With Interfering With a Police man.

With liquor cases against them several months old still undisposed of and no dates set for them to be tried so far as is known, Ole T. Rossebo and Adolph Nickel were arrested again Wednesday afternoon on new liquor charges and arraigned in municipal court Thursday. Preliminary examinations of both were held, Rossebo being bound over for trial Nov. 8 with bail at $100, and Nickel's trial set for Nov. 5 with $1,500 bail.

The arrests came as a result of three raids made by the police two of them on Rossebo's "smoke shop" at 233 Eastern avenue, and the other at the establishment at 51 South River street, operated by Nickel. Nickel claims to have found a pint of moonshine in Nickel's place and two partially full pint bottles in back of the Rossebo establishment.

Rossebo Ran With Bottle

As a result of Rossebo's actions when the police squad arrived at his place Wednesday afternoon, several charges have been placed against him—possession of liquor, interfering with a police officer in the performance of his duty. Rossebo ran out with a bottle spilling the contents on the ground as he was pursued by police and raised it as if to strike one of the officers over the head with it when finally caught, it is alleged.

When the police arrested Jack Maxwell in his shop for intoxication, Rossebo is alleged to have protested and locked the door in the hope of preventing Maxwell from being taken out and to the police station.

Word Tells Story

Patrolmen James Ward, George Porter and Con. O'Leary made the first raid on Rossebo's place and Ward, on the witness stand, Thursday told his story of the case in detail.

"As we entered the store, Rossebo ran out the back door with a bottle in his hand and I went after him about 12 to 14 feet behind," Ward said. "Porter also started after him and passed me as we both continued the chase for five or six rods around a near-by house. All the time Rossebo was running he had a bottle in one hand tipped upside down with the cork out so that

WHAT IS TODAY'S PAPER?

The Gazette believes many persons do not understand what a post dated newspaper is. Afternoon papers in many cities—we have them here in Wisconsin—change the dates on the pages of the afternoon paper, add a few high points, a picture and a feature or two and call the edition a "morning paper." Then there is another kind of a "morning" paper. When the great meeting at Chicago was over those who went away were met by newsboys at the doors selling Chicago morning newspapers dated the next day. It was about 9:30 in the evening. It was 2 1/2 hours before it could possibly be morning. But that was the same edition that was delivered in Janesville and towns along the lines of the railroads entering this city the following day. The "morning" paper printed long enough before to be sent to the stockyards and delivered was sent here. The Janesville Daily Gazette is not so large in white paper weight but its news is the news of TODAY.

LLOYD GEORGE IN WASHINGTON; CALLS UPON PRESIDENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington.—David Lloyd George came to Washington today to cast his sharp Welsh eye over the governor-machinery of the American government and to talk over many subjects of world concern with American officials.

Apiece with the dramatic threat which has run through the British arrival came at a time when the turbulent affairs of Europe appear again to be verging toward a crisis, and when talk of American aid in European reconstruction has had at least a momentary revival.

The parting address of Ambassador Harvey in London, the new German acquisition of a survey of her ability to pay reparations, and renewed proposals for a world economic conference all put their touches of color into the background of the conference arranged between the British statesman and the directing minds of the American nation.

Calles on Notables

Secretary Hughes and then President Coolidge were on the former premier's traveling list for the first few hours of his three day visit.

Late in the day he was to pay a call on Woodrow Wilson, who, like him, had filled one of the leading roles in the drama of war and peace and on the only other living president, Chief Justice Taft. Tomorrow and Saturday he will talk to many others high in official life.

Mr. Lloyd George found a crowd waiting to see him at the Union station and later waved his silk hat to acknowledge the applause of the crowd which had gathered at his hotel. He remained but a few minutes in his apartments and then swung into his program.

A hint, perhaps, of the position he will take in his conferences here was dropped by the visitor when he greeted newspapermen. The Hughes proposal for an assessment of Germany's capacity to pay reparations, he said, seemed to him the only practical suggestion that had been advanced.

The first caller to be received was W. J. Bryan. The two were together but a few minutes and Mr. Lloyd George, inquiring that their talk was merely an exchange of personal greetings.

MONROE DOCTRINE TO EUROPE

The position of the Coolidge administration, as outlined by Ambassador Harvey, who will be remembered spent several days in intimate conference with the new president as his personal guest at the White House, is that America rejects the underlying principle of a Monroe doctrine applied to Europe, namely, that while the United States would brook no interference from Europe unless Europe can hardly expect the United States to take the initiative in anything in the old world unless invited.

The opposite viewpoint is held of course by the democrats, who contend that America doesn't have to be invited to engage actively in plans for the rehabilitation of Europe, because America's economic policy is directly involved and because America became a partner in the allied and associated power group in April, 1917, and retains the privilege of a principal.

Our Legal Rights The United States is still insisting upon the exercise of legal rights derived from that partnership agreement and the co-operationists say this imposes on America the obligation of using her diplomatic influence for the settlement of all problems that may be located in Europe but which like Germany reached beyond the Atlantic and dragged America into the greatest war of all history.

Ambassador Harvey's speech is an accurate reflection of the cautious policy of the present administration here but it does not necessarily give the viewpoint of the opposition party in America.

30,000 KLANSMEN IN BIG FESTIVAL

K. K. K. at Dallas Dedicates Cottage for Care of Unwanted Babies.

(By Associated Press) Dallas, Tex.—The Ku Klux Klan, some 30,000 of whose members gathered here yesterday, fared from public view today.

Festivities and ceremonies at the state fair of Texas were concluded and special trains took visitors home, mostly to places in the southwest. The Klan officials came from all over the country.

Klan day, beginning with the dedication of Hope Cottage, declared to be "the only institution of its kind erected solely for the purpose of caring for the helpless babies that have come into the world unborn," according to J. D. Van Winkle, exalted cyclops of the Dallas Klan, reached a pitch of enthusiasm in an address by Imperial Wizard E. W. Evans, and found its climax in the initiation at night of candidates.

In a field amid millions of glittering sparks from the pyrotechnic display, a fiery cross burned. A word bugle call answered a salute of 12 guns.

The white forms of about 7,000 robed klanmen appeared across the field, becoming more distinct. About 25,000 persons sat in the grand stand, in the bleachers, and crowded to the inclosures. Others perched themselves on roofs, poles and improvised fences. As many as 30,000 persons are believed to have poured through the gates during the day and night, according to fans of details, and as many of these could conveniently, crowded to the night ceremonies.

FISK TELLS HOW TO BOOM SALES

100 Sales People Are Given Helpful Advice by Merchandising Counsel.

Suggestions of more than usual value were given the audience of 100 sales people who heard James W. Fisk, merchandising counsel of the Milwaukee Journal and Janesville Gazette, at the V. M. C. A. auditorium Wednesday night.

"Most of us imagine that we are over-worked and under-paid," said Mr. Fisk in the beginning of his talk on salesmanship. He stated that most sales persons would not make a cent if they did not take enough interest in their work.

"If we must work, let's make the most of it," he said. "The eight or 10 hours we spend in the store must be the most pleasant part of the day," was the message he left with his audience.

No store can have merchandise to please every patron but can only keep such a stock as will appeal to the average person. The average customer wants something the same thing, differing only in the quality which he wishes and the price he wants to pay. Every customer who comes into a store comes in because he is interested in something which the store has for sale, according to Mr. Fisk.

Give Four Rules.
Above all other considerations, the element of usefulness must predominate, according to Mr. Fisk. The fact which is stressed by a saleslady in a drug store, in Milwaukee was cited as an example. She sells face powder because it contributes to health and not for its beautifying effects.

Sell articles which are related to the article bought, was a statement made. When an article is purchased, sell everything with it that will make it give better service.

As an example of the increased volume of sales on advertised articles, Mr. Fisk says that 50 per cent of the sales of 250 brands of perfume on the market in one city are from five advertised brands.

Four rules which Mr. Fisk placed emphasis on are: "Selling efficiency depends on a knowledge of the article." "Try to work along the line of least resistance and with the current of people's minds." Sell articles which are related to what the customer has already purchased; and "Sell advertised goods."

Remember.—According to a Turin dispatch to Messagero, six grenades exploded at a military horse show being held in Turin in the presence of Premier Mussolini. One lieutenant was seriously wounded, while a sergeant and four privates were slightly hurt. It is understood the explosion of the grenade was part of the regular performance, but that they blew up prematurely.

The policy of some stores in showing the highest priced goods first and then showing cheaper qualities is not to be recommended, according to Mr. Fisk, as the goods at the price which they wish to pay look poor in quality beside those of higher price. He suggests that after looking at goods selling at the price which they are willing to pay, that better merchandise be displayed and the differences pointed out.

Having brought out the goods, something intelligent must be said about them, thus making necessary a definite knowledge of the goods. A lecture on the manufacturing process is not necessary, or desirable, but a demonstration of the usefulness of the article must be made. A practical demonstration, however, is not to be carried too far, for the failure of the goods to withstand extraordinary conditions while being demonstrated, is sure to lose the sale.

Usefulness Must Predominate.
Above all other considerations, the element of usefulness must predominate, according to Mr. Fisk. The fact which is stressed by a saleslady in a drug store, in Milwaukee was cited as an example. She sells face powder because it contributes to health and not for its beautifying effects.

TWO CITY HALL OFFICES VACATED

Assessor and Water Department Move Into Office of City Clerk and Treasurer.

It was moving day in the city hall Thursday.

The books, desk and other equipment used by City Assessor Frank L. Smith were transferred into the office of the city clerk-treasurer where Mr. Smith will be located in the future.

A similar process was gone through with the water department's office equipment, with the exception of a desk which remains for the answering of telephone calls. The big safe and steel filing cabinet have not yet been moved and it is not known when they will be needed, but the water department will have access to the two vaults in the clerk-treasurer's office.

The change is in line with the city manager's policy of centralization which will put the city clerk-treasurer, assessor, bookkeepers and stenographers all in one big office. This one office will be in charge of the engineering department which will continue as formerly.

The manager has not yet announced his plans as to what use will be made of the vacated offices of the assessor and water department but it is understood both will be occupied. Manager H. A. Griffey of the water department probably will have his desk in the engineering department.

A list of appointments to the various city positions is expected to be announced by the manager soon.

Mrs. George S. Parker, Janesville, opened the annual session of the Wisconsin D. A. R. of which she is the state regent, at the Astor hotel, Milwaukee, Wednesday, with an address in which she stressed the importance of Americanization work.

Mrs. Parker said: "No one who understands our Americanization work, which ranges from instruction of immigrant men and women to a study of history texts, which are being used in our public schools, will question the value of an organization such as the D. A. R. By preserving historical records and marking historic spots, we are using our influence toward developing an American tradition that will be a real heritage to the people of the country."

DR. WOODWORTH WAS "KILLED" 5 YEARS AGO THURSDAY

Thursday was the fifth anniversary of an incident which had importance in the life of Dr. Leigh J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector. Five years ago, Oct. 25 his heart stopped beating and as the former lieutenant in the medical corps expired he was still in the hospital, he had been living on someone else's time.

Dr. Woodworth was in the Argonne with his medical outfit back of Romagne when a high explosive shell hit him in the head and wounded him in six other places in the body. Later in the hospital back of the lines he was pulseless but Dr. Woodworth fought on, and won, even after an operation when his eyes were removed and the shrapnel removed from his body.

Thus the notation by Janesville's city-sanitary inspector when Oct. 25 rolls round each year.

The contents poured out on the ground in strong-smelling alcoholic trail.

Porter finally caught Rosso and as he did so he raised the bottle over his head as if to strike Porter. Porter intervened and tapped Rosso with his club, saying, "You are getting the blow, Rosso, then throw the bottle away and when you want to look for it again, after securing the shop, couldn't find it."

When we got back inside, Rosso was sitting in a chair, drunk, talking loud and finding fault with the police department for raiding the place, declaring if he were Rosso he wouldn't stand for it, that he would kick the whole police force.

I then told Maxwell he was under arrest and to take him from the chair. Maxwell said he wouldn't go and as he protested, I grabbed him. Just then Rosso began to yell and I locked it, declaring "No door is closed is going to take a man out of my place."

I ordered Rosso to unlock the door, but he refused to do so. I pushed him aside and unlocked it myself. He continued to say that no policeman was going to take a man from his place. I then took Rosso and Porter back to the station.

Night Raid Made
This affair occurred in the afternoon. Porter corroborated Ward's testimony, and in addition told of the second raid on Rosso's place, made at night. He said he and Morrissey, Saxby and Lehnartz visited the place about 8 o'clock and found a bottle and a pint flask of beer or alleged liquor under the bed of plaster board in back of the shop. The bottles were offered in evidence.

A 12-man jury has been drawn to try Rosso on three charges which were made against him several weeks ago as the result of a number of raids. The trial was to have been held last week but it has been held in view of the fact that Rosso is already under several thousand dollars' bail on previous charges.

Maxwell pleaded not guilty to an intoxication charge Thursday.

Nickel Case 6 Months Old
Adolph Nickel has had a liquor case pending against him for six months. He was arrested last May so the raid of Wednesday now makes two separate cases against this man.

Ward and Porter told the story of how they found a pint of alleged "moon" hidden behind a trowel on a shelf in the storeroom of Nickel's place. Wednesday afternoon, when Courtney was in the store, Nickel was not in the place at the time, they said.

Otto A. Ostreich is Nickel's attorney.

After hearing the officers' testimony and seeing the liquid offered in evidence, Judge Maxfield held Nickel for trial Nov. 5.

The police raid of the new touring cars in their raids yesterday and as a result took both places by surprise.

GAZETTE MOVING PICTURES TAKE NEW JOY TO MANY

"Do you like movies?" asked the Gazette community service editor of a 10-year old boy the other night, while the Gazette motion picture operator was setting up the equipment in a room at the hotel. "I like them very much," the boy replied. "I like the height of it, the height of it, the height of it," the boy replied. "I like the height of it, the height of it, the height of it," the boy replied.

When the first pictures were flashed on the screen, a gasp of ecstasy was heard from the little fellow who had never been to the movies. "One couldn't see his eyes in the darkened room, but after the program was over, one look into that shining mirror, and the boy's face was lit up with a never-to-be-forgotten evening.

There are some children at nearly every Gazette movie show, who, as teachers say, have never before seen motion pictures. And when one drives up a little back-country road to put on a program in some out-of-the-way school building, one is often fairly to find in the audience also men and women, who have never been to the movies. They are usually folks well along in years, who have been

SEPARATISTS FAIL TO HOLD MANY QUESTIONS

(By Associated Press)

Paris—A Rhineland republic this morning seems as far away as ever, for the separatists, although they are making fresh conquests, do not appear to have sufficient force to hold them.

The loyalists, in the presence of the complete apathy of the general public, seem to have no difficulty in regaining control, so that when a balance is struck the separatists are in much the same situation as they were yesterday. The movement now apparently is confronted by the opposition of an independent republic engineered by Burgomaster Adenauer, who is now in the hands of the separatists, who seek to divert the separatists coup in its favor. This, according to a Berlin dispatch, is the real object of Chancellor Stresemann's action.

According to Joseph Matthes, the separatist leader, this is not a new or hastily devised plan. The chancellor, so much impressed by the activities of the Rhinelanders, has decided to act at once to get ahead of them in the promotion of an autonomous Rhineland. This was the real reason for the hurried action of Leo Decker and his group in seizing the Rhineland, according to Matthes.

"We also learned that the Bavarian nationalists, as well as the communists, are all about the Rhineland, planning to launch movements. Decker and Stuehrthoff thought the best thing to do was to lose no time in starting our movement and thus steal a march on Berlin."

REPUBLICANS DEMOLISH TWO NEWSPAPER PLANTS

Trier—The separatists, having occupied the Rathaus, now propose to demolish the two newspaper plants. The plants of two newspapers opposed to the republicans have been demolished.

WORK OF BARBOCK PAISED AT MEET

Dairy Association Convention Pays High Tribute to Badger Inventor.

Stevens Point—The achievements of Stephen Barbock, inventor of the Babcock condenser, were celebrated at the 10th annual birthday convention of the Wisconsin Dairy Association, held at Stevens Point, Wis., today.

Resolutions were presented to the resolutions committee which paid a great tribute to the man who is said to have made the dairying industry one of the greatest in the nation. Dr. Barbock will be honored at the advancement of Wisconsin as the greatest dairying state and the rise of the industry throughout the state.

Education, according to Mr. Sims, is the great thing in any industry. On it, he said, depends the life of the nation. He stressed the things that make up the success of a nation: Natural resources, native ability and acquired ability.

Other speakers took up phases of the dairy industry. Mr. Bessie Allen of the Home economics department of Stevens Point Normal declared milk is the one food which should be a part of the diet of every man, woman and child.

"If the American people would use more milk, butter and cheese," said Miss Allen, "and use less meat, a healthier and happier people."

Speaking on the marketing of dairy products, Matthew Michaels of the division of markets, state department of commerce, pointed out that grading of dairy products is the foundation of better marketing.

He declared the producer must grade his product on the same basis as his livestock and automobiles. No longer must cheese and butter be sold on a flat basis, regardless of the quality of the product, according to the speaker, has brought about indifference of producer, jobber and dealer. The remedy he pointed out was to add quality to the present aims of yield and quantity.

Other speakers today were Prof. C. C. Evans and Prof. P. J. Schmede of Stevens Point normal, and C. E. Parker, a banker of Waupun.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years. It is a real remedy, and I recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that many people claim that it cures kidney troubles, washes in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents. They will send you a bottle of the medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Busy Man's Sport Page

ONE ADDITIONAL forward step in the building out of Janesville's recreational future has been taken. This comes with the decision of the city council to purchase additional ground on South Main street to carry out the original plan for an athletic field for the new high school. Slow but certain is the progress toward developing the community life of the city. As told the writer by Supt. Frank Holt some time ago, the eventual hope is for a stadium at the field, a gridiron, baseball diamond, roller path and tennis courts. The fair grounds have served well for years, but a field in the heart of the downtown district, easily accessible to all parts of the city, is the logical future. When it comes thus, what the spirit of the high school students mount and the civic pride of the city take a rise.

"TIGHT EN, tight en!" What thrills creep through the fan when he hears hundreds about him clear their throats with the cry of encouragement to football eleven or basketball five. What more thrill it means to the athletes out there upon the field or court, for whom they battle are with them tooth and nail for victory. From all accounts, Janesville high needed more power on the sidelines last Saturday. How about a hundred per cent increase? Give the boys a boost.

Who is the man who has been going around the country as the "One-Eyed" Connolly? During the past year stories have appeared in many newspapers, including the Gazette, about a man who had been declared dead by the state of Illinois. The writer met him at Shelby in July, but he was strangely silent about his claims that Janesville is his native town. Several local people have declared him an impostor. First, they say that the only "One-Eyed" is dead, died some years ago. Then they declare that if he were living he would be an elderly man, whereas the present Connolly is about 45 summers. Whether "One-Eyed" is an impostor upon the name of a famous ghost, he is at least in error as to his name and is giving Janesville much notice in the public prints.

Wisconsin and Minnesota are only teams of five to meet Saturday, but remainder scheduled with opponents calculated to test mettle and hard practice has been order of week. With game with Iowa week on Saturday in view, Coach Yost of Michigan gives his practice workouts and perfecting performances for Michigan Aggies Saturday. Minnesota, preparing for conference debut against Wisconsin Saturday, will give its practice to coaching staff in day's workouts and hopes of followers of team for victory over Badgers reported at low ebb. Meanwhile, Wisconsin regulars several times practiced this week, using Gopher play, causing worry to coaches and team adherents. Efforts to strengthen Illinois line weakened by vacancies, occupies attention of Coach Zupke. Northwestern expected to rely considerably for points and yardage on Captain Billy McMillan. Every regular, unless crippled, required to take part in scrimmage at Purdue, preparing to put up fight of career against Chicago. Indiana scheduled to meet Chicago next week devoting time to hard scrimmages with reserves and freshmen. Marquette leaves with 31 players to invade Boston.

Big "Ike" Meeting Here May Start State Body

TO ASK DELEGATES FROM 20 CHAPTERS FOR CENTRAL BODY

Important steps in the formation of a Wisconsin state organization of the Isaac Walton League of America are possible when a large gathering of sportsmen will be held in Janesville next Wednesday night. Judge Henry Graess, Green Bay, state chairman of the national organization and member of the board of directors, will be here on that night. A wire was received from him Wednesday by Edward H. Myzer, secretary of the Janesville chapter.

Delegates to Attend

Judge Graess is to deliver an address in an open meeting, free to the public. If plans are completed to hold the mass meeting in the auditorium of the new high school, a packed house is expected, for the judge is one of the most interesting and able speakers on the great outdoors in the country.

Following the meeting, a session closed to Isaac Walton members is to be held. "Ties" from every corner of southern Wisconsin have been invited and will be present.

Judge Graess plans to have delegates on hand from each of the 20 chapters in the state.

Big Projects Need Help

With the Wisconsin bottoms campaign still in progress, the Lake Koshong restoration, a future step of the league and the Horton marsh project now taking formation, there are many matters confronting the sportsmen of the state, local Isaacs point out. These matters must be cleared up and will be present. Judge Graess plans to have delegates on hand from each of the 20 chapters in the state.

Home Baseball for All State Is Latest Move

Representatives of 50 baseball clubs in Wisconsin, the president of five leagues and sports writers from all over the state are expected to be present at a home talent meeting at Watertown Thursday night. The meeting was called by M. Davis, president of the Intercity Baseball league and father of home talent baseball in Wisconsin.

Purpose of the meeting is to form a federation of home talent leagues to more thoroughly popularize the movement and to prevent duplication of playing states. There also is a state championship object view.

"Home talent" baseball leagues would permit more compact organizations," says President Davis. "Duplication of territory could be avoided by the association and cleaner, more wholesome sport will result."

An association of home talent leagues is a necessity and will help the state to maintain its present popularity.

Frank Sinclair, Janesville, president of the state of Wisconsin Home Talent league, will attend.

Badgers Hit Their Stride

Madison—Followers of the Wisconsin football team declare Coach Ryan's men hit their stride Wednesday night for the Minnesota game Saturday and that the winning Gophers are to have a hard task to turn the local team back. The Badgers went through one of the hardest scrimmages of the season Wednesday. Special attention was given to breaking up forward passes to which it is expected the Gophers will turn.

Freshmen players were unable to make any headway Wednesday night through the first team line or by the aerial route, it is said.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Famous Harness Writer Sees Local Horse Work

Joe Markey, better known in the sport world of harness race fans as "Marque," was here with his wife Wednesday to look over Anxiety, a mare owned by Harry Shaw of Janesville. Markey, perhaps the greatest writer in the harness game, represented a possible buyer.

The mare was sent over the track at the Janesville fair grounds for use in the local chapter, but Markey, inspection of the export. She showed one last quarter of 30 1/2 and one of 31.

While in the city Mr. Markey accepted the invitation of Charles S. Putnam to come here next spring and spend a few days. It was "Marque's" first visit to the local plant since 1913, when he came to report the meeting of that year for one of the leading horse magazines.

There are 15 horses now at the fair grounds to remain for the winter and the spring training season. Five of them belong to Shaw and five to Jim Conway of Edgerton, while the others are a mixed lot of the Mitchell stables and Ralph Wauke.

Sid Gustafson of Milwaukee has procured reservations for 10 stalls, which will make the total 25 horses. The Wisconsin State Fair National, which have been appearing on the grand circuit, will be among them. The horses are now in North and South Carolina and will arrive during November. Three families come with them.

SCOUTS DON'T SEEK SIGNALS

By SOL NETZGER

Do scouts ever get the signals of football teams that have earned a place in the game would be a waste of time trying to get the signals of future opponents. Furthermore, it is absolutely impossible for them to hear the signals from the places they seek high up in the stands. We doubt very much if any scout ever tried to get opponents' signals. Surely if they fear an opponent to the extent that they will play crooked to defeat him, it is reasonable to suppose this opposing team is better coached and the it will, therefore, have a system for changing its signals during a game. The matter of changing signals is not difficult with a team. It can be done at a moment's notice during a game without causing the least bit of confusion. We know of only one instance in football wherein a scout ever brought back a signal. The story was told as 20 years ago. A scout for a certain team in Texas learned one signal used by the Texas university team—the run of the Texas right end around the other end. When this team played Texas it had been coached to run to the end and attacked when this play was called.

It just happened that Texas had changed its signals and that the old signal for the run of the right end now meant a direct buck through the line of the back on that side. When the signal was called the team on defense rushed to its right end to stop the play while the Texas halfback went down the other side of the field for a touchdown.

Playing signals is poor football. Any coach will tell you that he has all he can do to get his own eleven to know their own signals. If an attempt is made to coach his team in the signals of an opponent, his own attack will suffer. Attack is the main issue in a game. Without it no eleven can win unless it is very lucky.

"Coney" Stoops, who immortalized himself in the recent world's series, played ball in six different leagues before he finally found a permanent berth in the National circuit ten years ago.

A scout for a certain team in Texas learned one signal used by the Texas university team—the run of the Texas right end around the other end. When this team played Texas it had been coached to run to the end and attacked when this play was called.

It just happened that Texas had changed its signals and that the old signal for the run of the right end now meant a direct buck through the line of the back on that side. When the signal was called the team on defense rushed to its right end to stop the play while the Texas halfback went down the other side of the field for a touchdown.

Playing signals is poor football. Any coach will tell you that he has all he can do to get his own eleven to know their own signals. If an attempt is made to coach his team in the signals of an opponent, his own attack will suffer. Attack is the main issue in a game. Without it no eleven can win unless it is very lucky.

SCOUTS DON'T SEEK SIGNALS

Do scouts ever get the signals of football teams that have earned a place in the game would be a waste of time trying to get the signals of future opponents. Furthermore, it is absolutely impossible for them to hear the signals from the places they seek high up in the stands. We doubt very much if any scout ever tried to get opponents' signals. Surely if they fear an opponent to the extent that they will play crooked to defeat him, it is reasonable to suppose this opposing team is better coached and the it will, therefore, have a system for changing its signals during a game. The matter of changing signals is not difficult with a team. It can be done at a moment's notice during a game without causing the least bit of confusion. We know of only one instance in football wherein a scout ever brought back a signal. The story was told as 20 years ago. Feinberg O. K. After Bad Jolt

Whitewater—Quarterback Feinberg of the normal team is up and around again. Instead of being severely hurt, a bad bump at the base of the head that put him unconscious for several hours was his full misfortune. He was hit at once by three men while taking a punt in the Oshkosh game, Tuesday. Capt. "Andy" Dyer is getting back in shape from a rough landing, 450 feet from these lads, the team is coming along fine. Light signal practice is being held and some scrimmaging using Milton plays.

MANY INQUIRIES ABOUT SKELETON

Lots of Reports but Officials Find Mystery as Great as Ever.

Findings of a skeleton on the Stockman farm in the town of Milton, seven miles north of Janesville, last week has resulted in county officials receiving a large number of reports on men missing for a year or more, but so far there has been no identification. The authorities are still as much in the dark after eight days have elapsed as they were the day the bones were discovered. They are being examined by doctors but no report has been made by them yet.

One report reaching County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley was that some aliens were known to have had a fight in that section of Milton township along the Northwestern right-of-way several years ago, but whether it resulted fatally no one ever knew.

Several Letters Received. Sheriff Fred Beley received a letter inquiring as to whether the skeleton could be that of Peter Rickert, Waukegan, real estate man, missing 13 years.

To Coroner Whaley came an inquiry Monday from Wausau—Mrs. Herman Letzke, who says her brother left his home in Wausau in 1912 but she has never heard from him. She is puzzled by a strange inquiry about the skeleton, which he received from Chicago, in which mention is made of a found overgrown child. The letter believes many have ended in a casualty. The letter is a conglomerate of details, poorly typewritten and ends with the oath: "I am a true friend and if these statements are not true."

Following is the letter in full: Chicago, Ill. Oct. 15, 1923.

Coroner Lynn Whaley, Janesville Wisconsin. Dear Sir:

Reading in the Chgo. paper other day I noticed a item about a skeleton. I would like to say who I think it is or might be. Not many more than two years ago I was living at 3018 T—Ave. Kansas City Mo. A man named came to the house who was well known in that city my name P—H— of Chicago. He was a well liked one of the city by many people.

Another man who by name W—P— of the same address who was from Roan Oak, Virginia not so well known but apparently a very hard one to get along with.

One day Mr. H— went out with a girl from the same house for a walk and so this man P—H— saw them and made a threat that he would go to Chicago and start about September 12th. I said that he did not live in that city but was going up north to see it and to hunt and they said they went to the house and the girl was still with them staying at Mr. H— side and the more she did the worse P—H— got.

H— went to his sister's home and stayed the night. The next night P—H— went to the home of the H— and told him that he was going to get him if it took his life and left the city. H— was due back to Chicago and started about September 12th. I said that he did not live in that city but was going up north to see it and to hunt and they said they went to the house and the girl was still with them staying at Mr. H— side and the more she did the worse P—H— got.

600 TONS OF BEETS HANDLED DAILY

Half-Million Pounds of Sugar Made Since Opening This Month.

Well started on its annual campaign, the Rock County Sugar company is handling more than 600 tons of sugar-beets daily and more than 7,000 tons have been received up to date. Slicing of the beets is progressing rapidly with 3500 tons run through from which 600,000 pounds of sugar has been obtained. The yield of beets is good this year and Porter Marks, superintendent of the plant, estimates that the total tonnage will exceed 35,000 tons. About 150,000 pounds of sugar is sacked daily. Mr. Marks expects that the miller panned market will be reached within two days time. The yield is not so heavy this year as only 600 bags have been obtained up to this time. This pulp is used for stock feed and the demand for it is far beyond the supply. The sugar content is high this year. Mr. Marks said that the factory never had a better season than this. No extensive repairs have been made and no breakdowns have occurred. William Kucza, assistant superintendent, is in charge of the factory at night although Mr. Marks works with him part of the time in addition to attending to the work in the daytime. A force of 300 men are engaged in the work this year and one-half of that number are local men. The campaign will take about 60 days.

FIRE ON LIQUOR SHIPS, DEMAND OF OSCAR UNDERWOOD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Dallas, Tex.—The active pre-convention candidacy of Oscar Underwood, United States senator from Alabama, for the democratic nomination for president, became a fact here today. Senator Underwood arrived here early today from Wichita Falls to make the principal address of his Texas tour at the state fair of Texas this morning. Hundreds of prominent Texans gathered here for the initial rally today of the Underwood-for-President club of this state. At Wichita Falls last night, Senator Underwood took his stand firm for law enforcement. Liquor smuggling should be stopped by federal revenue cutters, if necessary by bringing into the country the laws of the land, regardless of what nation's flag the ship carried, he said. The recent conference of governors with President Coolidge on law enforcement was a "buck passing affair," he said. America has surrendered leadership in world affairs, Senator Underwood declared today, because of partisan politics.
